

At the Chair of Responsible Management (Prof. Dr. Oliver Laasch) at ESCP Business School, Campus Berlin is 1 position available from 01.03.2024 or later:

Student Assistant (m/f/d) Responsible AI Research Profile | 10 working hours per week

The position is temporary and the duration is 6 months with possible extension.

The purpose of the Chair for Responsible Management is to study, develop, and promote alternatives to problematic logics of business and management. Examples for alternative more socially and environmentally desirable logics of practice can be found, among others, in humanistic, indigenous, biomimetic, post-growth, sufficiency, circular, rewilding, and stakeholder-democratic management, and restorative management logics, as well as the practices and business models shaped by them. We are looking for self-motivated, highly active and productive students, who are eager to gain first experience in research activities at one of the leading European business schools.

Tasks

Your main tasks will be supporting the research activities at our chair of responsible management. You will experience qualitative empirical work firsthand and work on a research project "Use of AI in responsible management" that involves data collection, analysis and transformation. You will also be involved co-shaping a new elective tentatively titled the "Responsible Management of AI and AI in Responsible Management".

Requirements

- Bachelor or Master's student during the entire period of work contract
- Very good written and spoken English skills
- General interest in the field of Business Management and Business studies and interest or initial experience in digitalization and artificial intelligence.
- Team player, reliable, responsible, showing initiative, and self-motivating

Nice to have

- Experience in responsible management and artificial intelligence
- Experience with qualitative research and/or experience with the NVIVO software

The application deadline is February 26. Send your questions or application (including a CV and motivation letter) to:
